A WORLD OF EXCITEMENT

In one wonderful square mile of fun and entertainment, the New York World's Fair has gathered hundreds of once-in-a-lifetime things to see and do and enjoy. Whatever your age, or taste, or interests, you'll find the Fair was designed just for you. Here are just a few of the exhibits at the Fair—some new, and many that have already thrilled millions of Fair visitors.

A Tribute To Sir Winston Churchill, an inspiring exhibit of Churchill memorabilia at the World's Fair Pavilion.

The delightful boat ride through a child's fantasyland at the Pepsi-Cola pavilion.

"To Be Alive"—the exciting non-commercial, award-winning film at the Johnson Wax exhibit.

The "Pieta"—Michelangelo's magnificent sculpture from Rome at the Vatican pavilion.

Awesome scenes from the dawn of life in the "Magic Skyway" of the Ford pavilion.

Famous people of history sculptured in wax at the Walter's International Wax Museum.

The authentic zither music at the pavilion of Greece.

The fun house at the Festival of Gas pavilion.

A musical song and dance show about the wonderful world of chemistry at the DuPont exhibit.

Disney's figure of Abraham Lincoln moving and talking at the Illinois pavilion.

The replica of an Imperial sculptured stone wall at the Japanese pavilion.

The old-world elegance of Bourbon Street.

The exhibit of priceless paintings by Goya, Velasquez, El Greco, Picasso, and others at the Spanish pavilion.

The inspiring trip into space, below the sea, through the city of the future at General Motors "Futurama II."

The Watusi dancers at the Africa pavilion.

The vivid ride, on a moving grandstand, through American history at the United States pavilion.

The fascinating dancers at the Indonesian pavilion.

"The Searching Eye"—a powerful film at the Kodak exhibit.

Color television shows in the making at the RCA exhibit—and see yourself on color TV.

The Baird Marionettes at the Chrysler exhibit.

The wonderful carousel theatre of General Electric—with animated Disney figures.

Hula dancing, with 40-foot waterfalls and lagoons at the Hawaiian exhibit.

The Everglades Show at the Florida pavilion—a free, hour-long show featuring live alligator wrestling.

The dramatic "People Wall" at the IBM pavilion where a whole audience is lifted high in the air.

The fountain and fireworks show every night at 9 at the Fountain of the Planets.

From forest to printed page, the story of paper, at the Scott Paper pavilion.

Beauty analysis in the Clairol pavilion, for women only.

The dazzling view of the Fair from the balcony of the beautiful pagoda of the Republic of China.

Les Poupées de Paris—a unique hour-long marionette show.

A quiet nap, in privacy and comfort, at the Simmons Sleep Center.

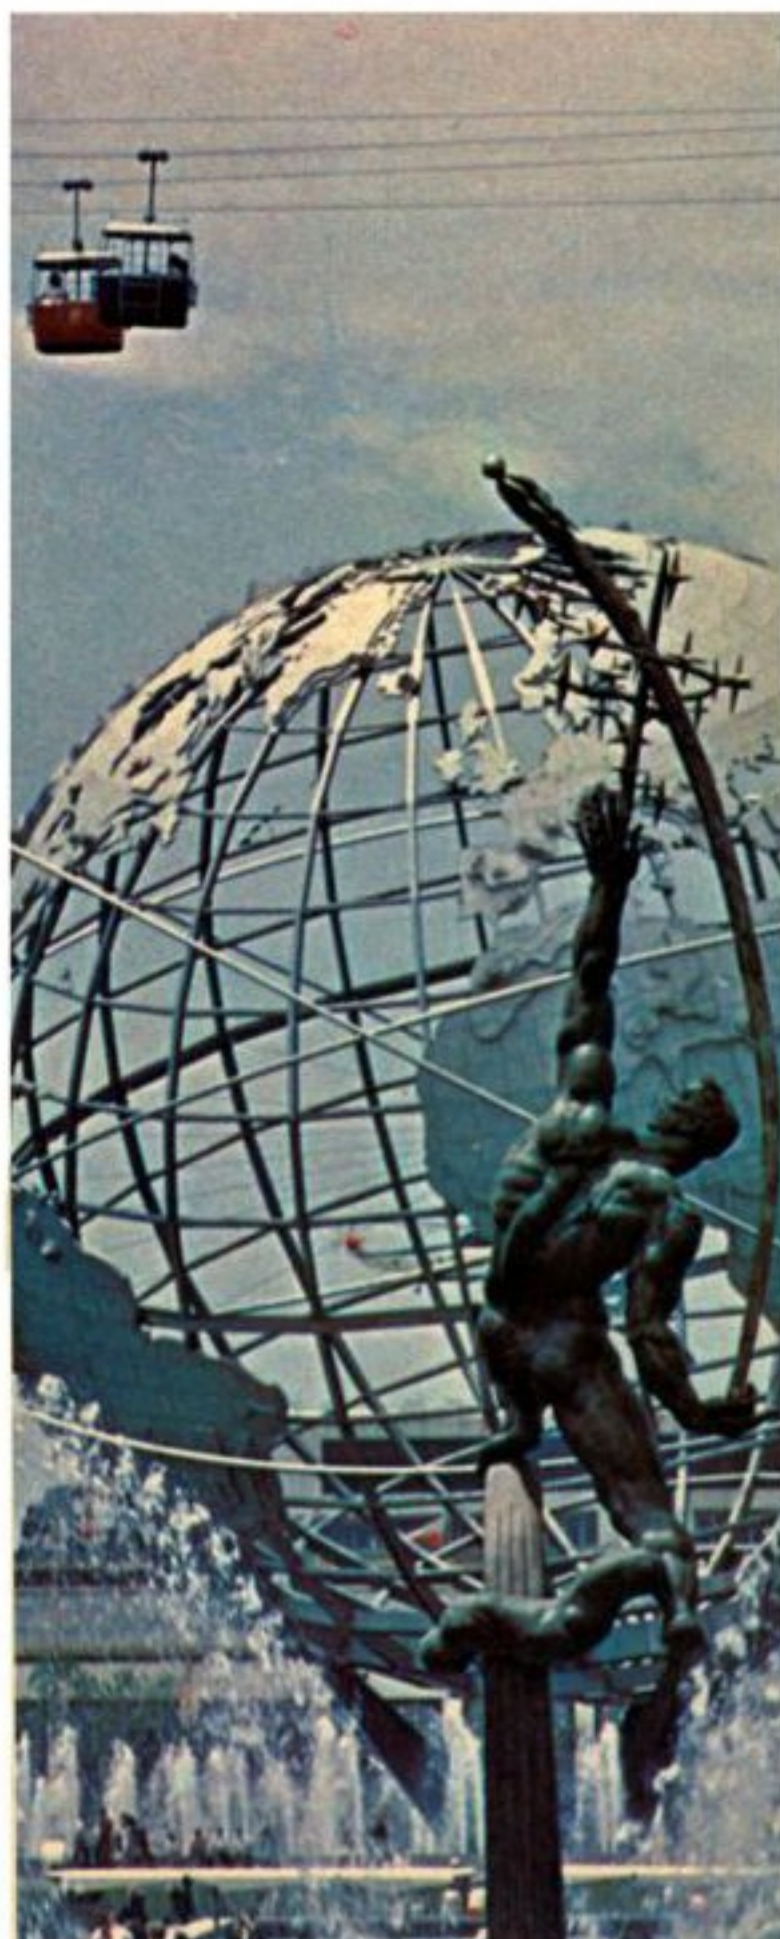

The symbol of the Fair, the United States Steel Unisphere.

Log-rolling, tree-climbing and wood-chopping performed by experts at the Oregon pavilion.

An aerial view of the Fair from the Monorail, erected by American Machine & Foundry Company.

Now you begin to see variety and endless entertainment that this Fair offers. Come to the Fair and enjoy all this—and more—for yourself.
